

November 30, 1948,

Dear Bernie,

As you suggested, I sent an appropriately revised manuscript to Brand for submission to the JACS. I am not sure that this is the most suitable place for it, but this question is not so important as having the matter settled and the notes printed. The secretaries in our office must have begun to be quite tired of retyping the darned thing, with minor alterations for each journal!

It has just occurred to me that it might entail no additional expense to combine the reprints— i.e. have both communications printed on the same sheet. In fact, this might be cheaper, since we would be able to take advantage of quantity rates. If this appeals to you, you could make the arrangements for it, and we can prorate the costs.

My review in Heredity is out (Sept. 1948 issue)— you said something about wanting to make a reference to it in your Arch. Biochem. Paper. The reference in "Problems in Microbial Genetics" 2:145-198 (1948), and probably you will be interested in pp 172-173.

Has Werber started work in your lab yet?

Sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
